Election Platform

- Monica: Since I'm in fourth year I feel like the younger years should be more into this, online would probably be better so that anyone who can't make it can have an opinion. Somehow need to get more people into KISS so that people actually run and care about the process. Maybe should have another retreat?
- Kat: Should be online so that it simplifies the process; in order to get more people into running, people should be able to run in more than one position in order to spark more competition
- Josh: I wanted to be an exec, didn't really care which one, I just wanted to be a part of it. So, also think that people should be able to run for more than one position; Possibly have a ranked ballot in order to have people run for multiple positions, maybe have a points system, and whoever gets the most points gets the job? This is getting complicated, and it shouldn't be, but I guess who ever decides to run it is the one that deals with the complications, could do it on a Google form even

- Karissa: Agree with everything so far
- Chloe: Agree with everything so far
- Katrien: Not really for online, because you get a lot of hearing people represent themselves when they talk in front of everyone. So maybe have everyone make their speech the week before at seminar and then vote online
- Shania: have someone go to each class and get them to do a paper vote
- Meagan: Pro online, not only more secure and anonymous, but also gives access to more KI students; maybe have the in person speech, but also have to submit a written thing that people can read online; Built on Deanna's idea, but again, kinda confusing so ask them
- Vanessa: Likes the speech one week then a week later to vote online; should make it more aware that anyone can sit on the meetings
- The nomination process is very much liked the way it is
- Deanna: For running for multiple positions I feel may not work online. In a club I was in, there were three positions, and you could only run for one. (What she's saying is kind of confusing so maybe talk to her about it for more clarification).

Website/digital yearbook

- Family tree with big Kids and lil Kids
